

Developing Communication in the Team – a One Day Course

What's it all about?

As we all know: a team needs to keep talking and working in an open and honest manner in order to perform and develop. Despite our best intentions, the ways that we tend to communicate usually provide some obstacles to working well together.

This programme is about identifying these tendencies and allowing the team to explore workable alternatives that can dramatically increase their effectiveness. Individuals are given insight into their own and others' working styles, and an opportunity to examine how best to combine them practically.

With a full day to explore the subject in depth, this is a powerful and rewarding course where individuals return to work with a greater understanding of how their team communicates, a stronger relationship with their colleagues and a clear plan of action to continue.

Who for?

- Teams with a desire to work together more effectively
- Teams with members who work on different projects, but also need to support one another
- Managers who work in different departments who need to support one another
- New teams and teams dealing with a change of structure

Why?

- Improved communication means more trust, support and understanding
- A fun/relaxed atmosphere or more enjoyable working conditions
- A platform for easier problem-solving in the future

Can this be developed?

Yes. Many companies go for a two-day or four-day course rather than a one-day. The longer the course then the more in-depth the learning.

Where?

At a venue near you! The programme below may have to be modified a little depending on the geographical resources available, but we can run this at almost any conference centre or even in your own workplace. The prices below do not include day delegate conference facilities as these vary depending on venue.

What's included in the price?

- Insurance (to £5m)
- Pre-course preparation
- Full facilitation
- Activities, full safety equipment and staffing
- Post-Course evaluation

How much will it cost?

- Up to 10 delegates: £1,200.00
- Up to 20 delegates: £2,100.00
- Up to 30 delegates: £2,900.00
- Up to 40 delegates: £3,700.00
- Over 40 people: negotiable upon venue/numbers/activities
